NEW CASTLE TIN PLANT IN OPERATION

Plant Put In Shape For Operation In Less Than Time Expected

There's smoke rolling out of the New Castle tin mill today. Fat, black billows of soft coal smoke, belching out of twelve hot mill stacks, curling their way upwards and seemingly writing a message of "Happy Days" against a background of clouds. After being idle since December 31, 1931, twelve of the mills, of this American pany plant, went on this morning, and the scene in the mill looked like a fraternity reunion.

There was much music there, a symphony of melodious roars and grumbles that sounded sweeter to the ear than a philharmonic orchestra. The tenor of piping whistles, the baritone of the whirling engines, the deep bass rumble of the rolls and the drum like effect of the hot plate as it snapped through and over

PA NEW OBSERVES

How was that for a rip snortin' rain last evening? Next to being right in it without an umbrella, the best way to appreciate the fury of a rain like that is to beat along through it in an automobile. Pa New was in New Wilmington; that seemed to be the vortex of the storm.

Yesterday was by no means the first day of swimming in this district, but it certainly drew the largest crowds of the season. There were swimmers at practically every popular pool in the county.

Sign along the highway near Harmony—"Buy Americans."

Bride paths leading out from Troop F stables, West Washington street extension, were used almost constantly all day Sunday. The afternoon riders found the sun not conducive to strenuous riding but just right for slow cross country jaunts.

It will be welcome news to motorists when the Portersville to Ellwood City road is open to traffic for the entire distance.

There was plenty of evidence in Mercer last night, that a real storm had hit the city during the late afternoon. Many parts of trees were to be noted scattered about the streets, which had been blown down by the storm.

The color of the Shenango river up around Pulaski makes it look like the industries above had dumped some foreign material into the stream once more. The water is a reddish color.

Probe Of Income Tax Reports Of Morgan Co. Partners Is Probable

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Senate's inquiry into financial affairs of the house of Morgan approached highly explosive territory today as Ferdinand Pecora, special counsel, sought authority to investigate the income taxes of three Morgan partners.

Wm. Ewing, Harold Stanley and Thomas S. Lamont, three junior partners, were involved in the tax matters. Special investigators probed personal stock transactions by three partners and discovered evidence of sales, negotiated for the apparent purpose of reducing their income taxes in recent years. The transactions were legal on the surface but Pecora desired to go behind the scenes.

A searching inquiry into Morgan's railroad empire was delayed pending a decision on the tax issue. Pecora was ready to reveal how the house of Morgan organized the Allegheny corporation to capture control of a half dozen railroads through the purchase of securities. The Erie, the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Pere

Blow Open Safe At Elks' Home

Robbers Enter Home During Night And Break Into Safe

DISCOVER ROBBERY EARLY THIS MORNING

Robbers, who entered through a front window, some time during the night, blew open the office safe of the Elks' Home, North Mill and Falls streets, robbed the cash drawer in the grill room, apparently feasted on food, milk and beer found in the place and left, having secured but $6 in cash for their trouble.

The robbery occurred between 10 o'clock last night, when the place was closed, and 6:20 o'clock this morning, when John Davis, the steward, arrived to start the day. He found many evidences of the presence of the robbers, as the safe had not only been blown, but desks, drawers and every possible place that could be gotten at on the first and second floors had been ransacked.

Police authorities were notified and on investigation, found that entrance had been gained through a window of the ladies parlor, opening out onto the front portico of the building.

Blow Safe Open
Combination of the safe located in office, at the rear of the main entrance hallway, was knocked off and nitroglycerine poured into hole where the combination had been located. Fuses and dynamite caps used in exploding the nitroglycerine, which blew open the door. Efforts to open the door of the strong box of the safe were unsuccessful. The robbers secured $4 in the safe.

Two dollars was secured in a drawer in the grill room on the second floor. Empty milk and beer bottles found in the grill room and also about the safe indicated that the robbers had helped themselves freely to anything they could find to eat or drink.

A penknife, a piece of drift pin used in knocking off the combination, several pieces of fuse and empty or expended dynamite shells were found about the safe. The police are making a thorough investigation of the case.

House At Odds With Roosevelt For First Time

Roosevelt Faces Test Of Strength With Congress Over Veterans' Compensation

THREATENS VETO IF BILL PASSES

Congressmen Would Restore Sum Of $170,000,000 To Be Taken From Vets

By GEORGE E. DURNO

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 5.—President Roosevelt faced his first test of strength with Congress today. It was he who issued the challenge.

Pending legislation which would restore more than $170,000,000 of the compensation about to be taken away from World War veterans by executive order was the issue.

The President is at odds with the House, which to date has voted overwhelmingly for every measure in his emergency program. House leaders are on notice that Mr. Roosevelt will keep the special session here all summer if that be necessary to prevent a disarrangement of the budget through last-minute concessions to the veterans.

Warning Is Given

He bluntly told 14 Democratic congressmen last night that if they persisted in passing the Connolly amendment—which would limit to 25 per cent the amount that could be cut from veterans' payments—it would be necessary to enact additional taxation to offset the cost. At a three-hour White House conference he asked these leaders to tell him what form of taxes could be imposed, but no suggestions were forthcoming.

The meeting ended in a stalemate. The congressmen told the President the House was in a very substantial mood to pass the disputed measure. Mr. Roosevelt assured them he would veto it unless it was financed.

It was considered likely Mr. Roosevelt would resort to the radio and appeal directly to the people if the House doesn't recede.

House Will Liberalize Measure

Baccalaureate Audience Hears Epworth Pastor

Dr. Galbraith's Sermon Features Senior Class Service At Cathedral

REV. SCHNEBLEY IS ALSO PARTICIPANT

Choir Music Is Feature Of Service For Class On Sunday Night

With impressive dignity, baccalaureate exercises for the June graduating class of the senior high school were held in the spacious Cathedral auditorium last night, with Dr. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, delivering an inspiring sermon.

Dr. Galbraith's message bore the theme, "Youth Approved of God."

Rev. Schnebley Participates

Assisting the Epworth minister in the conduct of the traditional pre-commencement service was the Rev. D. C. Schnebley, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, who gave the invocation, read Dr. Galbraith's Scripture passage, offered a fervent class prayer and pronounced the benediction.

While the rainstorm which broke an hour before the service did delay the crowd, most of the downstairs and a large portion of the auditorium's first balcony was occupied as the program opened.

A reserved section in the center of the main floor was where the 283 graduates who receive diplomas tomorrow night sat. The seniors, in stately cap and gown, marched into the auditorium promptly at eight o'clock behind Principal Frank L. Orth and Rex Rowland, president of the class. Under J. P. Replogle's direction the school orchestra played the beautiful "La Reine de Sabe" by Gounod, for the class entry. At the close they marched out again to the strains of Mozart's "Marche alla Turca."

Choir Music Splendid
Featuring the worship program were two vocal numbers sung by 12 high school students, part of them seniors and part undergraduates. They formed the evening's choir, singing without accompaniment under the direction of their music supervisor, Miss Gladys Rich. Their musical contribution brought probably the richest vocal numbers the

Man Ends Life By Slashing Throat

Walter Konopka, Of Oakland, Found Dead By Nephew Sunday Afternoon

MENTAL TROUBLE BLAMED FOR ACT

Going to his room in the home of his brother-in-law, Ignatius Zarembo, of 20 Elmwood avenue, Oakland, Sunday afternoon, Walter Konopka, aged 28, ended his life by slashing his throat and left wrist. He was found dead by a nephew, Kasimer Zarembo, about 3 o'clock. Coroner Orville Potter, who was called, pronounced Konopka's death as suicide.

The coroner was told by Konopka's sister, that he had been ill with mental trouble for about two years, and had previously been in a sanatorium. His condition had improved somewhat, but became worse again, and he was forced to leave his work as a pair heater at the Shenango Tin Mill on April 18, because of his ailment.

Mrs. Zarembo and her two daughters had been sitting on the front porch, and when the former's son returned from work about 3 o'clock, he was asked to look for Mr. Konopka, as his sister had begun to worry about his absence. Going to Konopka's room, the boy found him in a pool of blood. The act had evidently been committed several hours before.

In addition to his sister, Mrs. Zarembo, he leaves his parents in the old country.

In addition to the parents, and sister, he also leaves two brothers-in-law, V. Jendrysik, and Joseph Kwolek, of this city.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, with burial in Madonna cemetery.

With his parents, the baby had gone to visit at the Houston farm near Enon, and older boys were playing baseball in the yard, batting out flies. In some manner, the bat slipped, striking the little tot along side the head. He was taken to a doctor's office in Enon Valley and then brought to the New Castle hospital, but efforts to save his life were in vain, death coming at 9:15 last evening.

Coroner Potter, who investigated the circumstances surrounding the death, pronounced the death as accidental.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 5.—Now we went off the gold. That is you had a government bond and it said they would pay you in gold. Now they won't.

"Well, you can alibi the situation, but that is repudiation. But they claim it was necessary, and we needed the money. Now if they can do that in an emergency, why can't they pass another one to do away with the tax exemption on all tax-exempt bonds. There would be more justice in that, for everybody bought 'em just to evade the tax. In other words we knew we were buying a stolen car when we bought it, but that's why we bought it."

When you repudiate all tax exempt bonds you only beat 'em out of 3 or 4 per cent, but when you repudiated the gold, it will take years to find out what you beat him out of.

According to Mr. McClung there is no difference in the collection of taxes from teachers than from any other citizen. Cards are sent them notifying them of their indebtedness. If they have not paid by the time set by law, a collector calls upon them and endeavors to get the money. If the collector is unable to

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple: — a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

NEW PRESIDENT OF PRINCETON

TRIBUTE to Dr. Harold Willis Dodds, Grove City college product, who is the newly elected president of Princeton University, as given in an editorial in the Philadelphia Inquirer, will be read with interest by many in this district. The Inquirer says:

Princeton does no violence to tradition in going outside of her alumni body for a president. With the selection of Dr. Harold Willis Dodds, more than half have come from other institutions, and among the most eminent, Witherspoon, McGosh and Patton were educated in British universities. One other executive beside Professor Dodds was a native of Pennsylvania. He was Ashbel Green, who was born in Pequea, but Samuel Davies attended school in Chester county, and the late John G. Hibben served a pastorate in Chambersburg.

In selecting a graduate of Grove City College the trustees have returned the compliment implied when Grove City chose Dr. Alexander T. Ormond to head that institution in 1913. "Jerry" Ormond, who was a member of the class of 1877 at Princeton, was for fifteen years the beloved McCosh professor of philosophy.

Dr. Dodds is an authority on political science in various departments, ranging from municipal affairs to foreign plebiscites. His survey for reorganizing the New Jersey government, it has been estimated, would save the State $14,000,000. In the Tacna-Arica dispute he was legal adviser to General Pershing. He thus perpetuates the ideal of "Princeton in the Nation's service" enunciated at the college sesqui-centennial by Woodrow Wilson, then professor of jurisprudence.

MUST CUT BIG SALARIES

The Reconstruction Finance corporation has laid down the rule that corporations to which it makes loans must reduce excessive salaries paid to their executives or prove that they are not excessive.

This was announced in connection with a loan of $23,200,000 made to the Southern Pacific company. Reductions ranging from 10 to 60 per cent in salaries of executives of that company were ordered and accepted.

"While the Southern Pacific railroad loan is the first in which these salary reductions have been required," said Chairman Jones of the corporation, "it will be the policy of the corporation to impose similar conditions in all future loans to railroads or other corporations paying excessive salaries."

The corporation will require that the cuts remain in effect until the loans are repaid or until the corporations meet fixed charges out of revenues.

The policy is just and sound from a business standpoint. The lower-paid workers of most railroads and other corporations have been cut drastically. The executives also in many cases have had their salaries reduced, but many still are receiving what would be regarded as big pay even in normally prosperous times. These should be brought more into conformity with the wage-cut plans that have been applied to the ordinary workers. If a corporation needs to go to the federal agency for funds, it should first have effected all reasonable economies and these should include salary-reductions for the highly paid executives. To ask aid while paying excessive salaries would be following an unsound principle.

The reconstruction corporation has acted wisely in inaugurating the policy just announced.

BELLIGERENT DIPLOMACY

Great Britain and Russia have come to rue the day they declared economic war against each other as the culmination of a diplomatic quarrel over the trial of two British engineers in Russia for industrial sabotage. Their lament is that their diplomats did not try a little diplomacy.

Russia has lost a market for oil and oil products valued at 3,000,000 pounds sterling a year and a market for 6,000,000 pounds sterling in timber. On the other hand England is no longer shipping machinery into the land of communism.

Their loss is the gain of other countries, including the United States. Both Russia and Great Britain are buying from other nations that which they formerly purchased from each other.

Another gain for the world outside, as well as inside, this little private war is a needed lesson in the evils of bad diplomacy. About as much diplomacy was shown here as between two schoolboys each with a chip on his shoulder.

Diplomacy, in spite of some terrible lessons, has not yet learned to conciliate. Most modern diplomats pick the shortest route to severed relations or war.

Most persons still think the trial of the two British engineers was just another Soviet mock trial intended for home consumption, and that if the British government had kept its hands off the defendants would have escaped with less punishment than has already been meted out to them. But London interceded, Moscow got on her high horse, and everybody lost.

TO WIPE OUT DEFICIT

The public will be excusable if it remains a little skeptical of the prediction made by J. C. O'Mahoney, first assistant postmaster general, that the post office department will become a self-sustaining "business unit" in the fiscal year 1934.

Similar optimistic forecasts have been heard before, but the department has been in the red so long and despite, at times, sincere efforts to correct this situation it seems that only a miracle could place it on a self-sustaining basis. Mr. O'Mahoney is in charge of economy plans relating to the department. He declined to reveal how he expects the savings to be effected, but appeared to be confident of the department's ability to become financially independent.

This, he said also, would be accomplished without impairing service to the public.

Estimates of the current year deficit, with more than a month yet to go, are about $125,000,000. Wiping out of this is contemplated in the department's present plans.

The country will await hopefully fulfillment of Mr. O'Mahoney's prediction. Such an accomplishment as that forecast would be one of major importance in the national government.

The stock market joins in the "depression's over" chorus.

Farmers are doing better. An Indiana farmer plowed up $7,000 in coins in one field.

All Of Us

A MAN SHOULD HAVE PRIDE

If you take away Pride from a man—or if a man throws his own Pride in the gutter—what has he left?

He must have Pride or he cannot stand up in this world. He cannot work. He cannot suffer decently. He cannot love. He cannot be himself at all, and a man must be himself through all the years of his living on this earth.

I do not mean that vaunting, arrogant pride that holds the conquerors of men to their terrible careers.

I do not mean that shallow pride that leads men apart from their fellows, saying to themselves, "I am too high, I am too sensitive and fine to mingle with the vulgar crowd."

Nor do I mean that silly, peevish pride that makes a man talk of fence at little injuries and keeps him eternally miserable because he has been slighted by his more healthy and normal brothers.

I mean the Pride that holds a man up and keeps him going, whatever happens, however his hopes may fall and fate or even his own weakness may beat him down. That's the Pride that a man must have. It's a good Pride, it's a decent Pride. It's the stuff of joy and self-respect.

Because a man must have respect for himself too. He can't live without that, either. It is more than food and drink, much more than money. It's what he most truly lives by. It's his solid income.

A man must say to himself whatever happens, "Well, here I am. I'm here and here I must stay. I'm in the show, I'm part of the parade. Whatever happens is exciting. What ever happens to me is a part of living. I'm alive. You can't take that away from me. Nobody can do that. I'm here, to live and grow and fight and suffer and win, if I can, or fail, if I must. I can see, hear, feel, taste, breathe, think, believe, hope, struggle, understand, and make the best of what I am. That's my pride, and that's that enough for any man! And the more fool you are if you can't get that much out of life."

A DOG
Tis pity not to have a dog,
For at the long day's end
The man or boy will know the joy
Of welcome from a friend.
And whether he be rich or poor
Or much or little bring,
The dog will mark his step and bark
As if he were a king.

Though gossip whisper now and then
Of faults they plainly see,
And some may sneer, from year to year
My dog stays true to me.
He's glad to follow where I go,
And though I twin or fail
His love for me he'll let me see
By wagging of his tail.

Now if I were to list the friends
Of mine in smiles and tears,
Who through and through are staunch and true
And constant down the years,
In spite of all my many faults
Which critic catalog
Deserving blame, I'd have to name
My ever-faithful dog.

Tis pity not to have a dog,
Whatever he be bred,
For dogs possess a faithfulness
Which humans sadly need.
And whether skies be blue or gray
Good luck or ill attend
Man's toll by day, a dog will stay
His ever-constant friend.

Testimony In Morgan Case Brings Out Tax-Law Defect

Failure To Make Income Payments Creates Demand For Change In Assessment Method Or Adoption Of Some Other Form Of Tax

Among the disclosures of interest in the J. P. Morgan testimony before a committee of congress, the most impressive to the public is the failure of the partners in the firm of bankers to pay income taxes in part of the period of the depression. General sentiment is in favor of charging this to defects in the income tax provisions. Modification or substitution of the sales levy is favored. Some point out that the practice relating to capital gains and losses falls in a period of depression. The list of prominent men who received favors from the firm in stock purchases raised the question whether men in public life should be identified with such transactions.

"From the very beginning our income tax law was theoretically wrong; today it has proved to be in practice a huge blunder," thinks the NEW YORK TIMES, while the ALTOONA MIRROR believes that "congress is in a temper to plug up a few loopholes in the income tax laws," and the NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, favoring the sales tax, advises that "the sooner congress realizes that it has been relying upon a dangerous, unjust and unreliable tax, the better." The CLEVELAND NEWS avers that "the law is spotted and streaked and probably needs revision." The TEXARKANA GAZETTE suggests that "no one need get angry with Morgan; apparently he did just what the law allows him to do."

"Congress could easily have obtained from the bureau of internal revenue," states the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "the facts to show how many other wealthy and noted Americans were able to take advantage of their losses in escaping income taxes at a time when the contributions from their wealth were needed more than ever by the government. Such facts have been known for a long time, and they have been pointed out before. Former Secretary of the Treasury Mellon used it as an argument against the income tax, and the fact that it could not be expected to yield in hard times anything like the revenue yielded in good times."

"The capital gains provision of the income tax law," according to the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR, "netted huge returns in the big years, but the corresponding provision for losses has partially crippled the law in the lean years." That paper adds as to the matter of investments: "That the men in public life whose names were on Morgan's list were expected to pay for the privilege in political favors is probably far from the fact." The INDIANAPOLIS NEWS believes that, taking the year in the lean years, it is probable that the government fared well. The CHARLOTTE OBSERVER predicts a "revamping of the law," while the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR suggests "taking the tax off capital gains and eliminating the provision for deduction of capital losses." The BOISE IDAHO STATESMAN agrees that "the law should be revised, if it is shown to be unfair." The OMAHA WORLD-HERALD would leave capital losses and gains alike out of the law. The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS sees no ground for legitimate criticism, while the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER avers that "not for long will the country tolerate the kind of practice which Morgan declares of practice in relation to his income taxes." The DANBURY NEWS-TIMES observes that "the last straw was laid upon the congressional back," but the CHICAGO JOURNAL OF COMMERCE advises: "Let all the cards be placed on the table and then let the judgment be true, based on facts, not sentiment."

The NASHVILLE BANNER concludes that "wealth has not been paying its way, but it will do so in the future."

"Whether gains and losses should be treated as they have been by congress has been a disputed question," says the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL, suggesting that "it takes roaring prosperity to make the American system pay the treasury better than the English." The MIAMI DAILY NEWS declares: "When stocks were soaring in new era days we were taxing the profits, if they were sold, from the rise. If we tax the profits on the rise, there is a corresponding remission of taxes when there is a fall."

On the matter of stock purchases, the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR thinks that "if tips work miracles among waiters, they probably accomplish things also among big business men." The NEWARK EVENING NEWS holds that "favoritism like this will strengthen the demand for more strict government supervision of banking and finance."

"When Mr. Morgan's firm," states the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE "is the habitual channel through which foreign securities reach the American market, and when, finally, he distributes private favors to public men, at the very time when the public activities of his institution are necessarily interrelated with the public activities of the departments of government over which some of these men preside—when a 'private' institution can do all of these things and must do some of them, it is no longer 'private'."

The stock practice is declared, in its relation to public officials, to be "on dangerous ground," by the GARY POST-TRIBUNE, "not ethical," by the LEXINGTON LEADER, likely to produce new laws, by the RUTLAND HERALD, likely to lead to measures producing "much good for the vast majority of people," by the PEORIA STAR, and in the judgment of the ASBURY PARK PRESS, to have shown that "the Morgan firm in many respects is more powerful than the government."

"Reliability and dependability of the House of Morgan" is found by the PORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM to have been demonstrated, "for there would have been none to believe in stock profits and promises." The CHARLOTTE EVENING POST points out that "there is a place in the banking scheme for the private banker and there have been times in American history when private banking firms such as those now under investigation have virtually saved the American government's credit from destruction and saved the nation's banking structure from collapse when the commercial banks were powerless."

Belief that the investments were pure business transactions is voiced by the MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE and the DES MOINES TRIBUNE, while the SALT LAKE DESERET NEWS, holding that the transactions were according to custom of investment houses, adds that "it may be contrary to public policy." The PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN denies that it is a crime, but contends that "a particular and especial responsibility should rest upon men in legislative and administrative public office, or in judicial positions, to keep themselves free from all obligations that might, by any means, affect their public service."

MARTIN GANTZ PUPILS TO MEET

Scholars And Teachers Of Old Martin Gantz School Will Renew Relationships

Everything is in readiness for the first annual reunion of the teachers and pupils of the old Martin Gantz school of the city Wednesday, June 7, and the committee urges that every scholar who ever attended the school from the time of its opening to the time of its closing join in this reunion to renew old friendships. It is also hoped that every teacher who ever aided the young mind in development during the existence of the school will be on hand.

Reservations for the dinner must be in the hands of the committee not later than noon on Tuesday.

The day's activities will begin with all teachers and pupils meeting at the Richard Dana home on North Jefferson street Wednesday, between 3 and 4 o'clock, and after all are assembled they will cross the street, take their places in front of the old building and here will be photographed. When the picture has been taken, cars will be provided to take the group to George Washington junior high school, where they will be conducted on a tour of the building, and no doubt many will note the vast difference in the old school and the modern building. There will be a period of visiting and recalling the early friendships of bygone school days.

Dinner will be served in the cafeteria of the school at 4 o'clock and at the close of this there will be another period for visiting before the program which will be presented in the school auditorium at 7:30.

All local talent, from those who attended the school, will feature the program, and it will be well worth while for those who ever attended the school to be present for the activities and those who cannot attend either the afternoon or dinner sessions will be welcomed to the evening program.

State Would Get Road Funds If Bill Is Passed

Bolsinger Estimates National Measure Would Mean $210,000 Allotment Here

"Pennsylvania will receive $21,019,944 of the $400,000,000 of Federal money which will be allocated for highways, provided the bill passes the United States Senate," said Ralph W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club today.

"The funds will be made available to the states on July 1," continued Mr. Bolsinger, which will mean that much roadwork will be possible in Pennsylvania this summer, if the bill passes and it seems certain to. If the money allocated to Pennsylvania is further allocated to counties in a pro rata share, Lawrence county would receive about $210,000. This could be used for the building of highways, repairing those now in existence, removing traffic hazards or doing any number of pieces of work that are related to highways.

Pinchot Signs Bill Slashing Pay Of Assembly

HARRISBURG, Pa. June 5.—Governor Gifford Pinchot Saturday signed the Holmes bill cutting $500 from the salaries of the legislators and vetoed the Reed bill which would have made the cut only $300. The present pay of the legislators is $3,000. The new salary for the Assemblymen and Senators coming up will be $2,500. The decrease does not affect senators who were elected in 1932 for four year terms.

She presents the answer to that question from the point of view of the American Church; the answer from the Canadian point of view is given by the executive director for the

BURNS HEALED Without A Scar

"My sister was burned last winter when putting coal oil on a deadened fire and the flames burst out into her face. We used nothing but San-Cura Ointment and in almost an incredibly short time her face was perfectly healed without a scar. It is the finest thing for burns that I have ever seen. Have also used it for other things. Just lately an infected toe and shortly it was healed."

Saving In Schools Totals Over $143,000

Salary Changes Bring Large Sized Reduction In Tax Expenditures

Figures presented to the New Castle School Board Friday night at the special session by Superintendent C. C. Green show a savings of $122,050 in teachers salaries for the coming year over the legal salary schedule prescribed for 1932-33, and a total of $143,425 of a saving over what the total would be for 1933-34 if all increments and salary schedules were carried out according to the Edmonds Act.

These figures do not mean that all this is saved over and above what was paid out to teachers in the current school year. Actually there will be little difference as the teachers made a voluntary contribution of twenty per cent this year. Under the Wilson Act passed by the General Assembly in the recent session a ten per cent cut is permitted and additional cuts at the pleasure of the Department of Public Instruction.

In addition the department can, and has, permitted a suspension of the $100 increment allowed teachers of under eight years experience and this much will be saved over the present year's figures. The savings in this respect will be about $20,000.

The prescribed salary schedule for 1932-33 totalled $615,925. The amount to be paid for the coming year will be $486,760.

Honest Man Returns Stolen Pocketbook

Finds It Hidden In Ruins Of Old Capitol Theatre And Seeks Owner

Thanks to the native honesty of a man, down and out, but with that self respect that would not permit him to retain a pocketbook and money, which he found, although in dire need, Miss Alexandria Karidis, daughter of George Karidis, 803 Blaine street, is again in possession of her pocketbook and its contents which were stolen from her machine Sunday.

Miss Karidis drove down street and parked the car in the rear of the Hudson Lunch of which her father is the manager. She was in the lunchroom but a few minutes, but on returning to her machine found that some unknown person

Crowd Expected At School's Reunion

A record crowd of former students, graduates and present students of the New Castle Business college are expected to attend the June 9 dinner-reunion planned for Camp John M. Phillips of the Boy Scouts, it is announced. Plans are being completed.

A short time later, Alexander St. Marie, address unknown, who was stopping at the Rescue Mission, was in the rear of the ruins of the former Capitol Theatre. He saw an old pair of shoes in the ruins, which he thought might be of use to him. As he sought to secure the shoes, he found the pocketbook.

In the pocketbook it was determined who was the owner, and it was returned to her intact. It had had stolen her pocketbook from the car, together with $6 in money and her drivers license. This was about 10:40 a. m. Sunday.

Revamp West Side Span After Half Century Of Service To Community

Back when horses and buggies rattled over New Castle streets, 57 years ago, in 1876, the present West Side bridge, now torn up for its major repair operations, was built. It's a far cry from that time until now, when modern engineering applies its skill to restore the time-worn structure for years more of profitable use at least.

When opened completely again, the span will carry two traffic lanes. The center part, left open, will not be used. No trolley tracks will be laid across it.

Assistant County Engineer Glenn Throop, who, with A. G. Morgan, Youngtown bridge expert, is supervising the repair job, explained today that the span, once remodeled, will be unlike any in the district. No other local bridges have been electric welded such as it will be. The idea is to lighten the dead load and increase the remaining live load.

A three-inch-thick steel grid flooring, product of Carnegie Steel design, is to be laid across the span. Automobile skidding, experts say, will be entirely eliminated.

It is planned to take 400 tons of old weight off the beams and replace them with 100 tons of fresh material.

Three shifts of watchmen are directing motorists while the repair work is under way. A six-mile-per-hour speed limit has been established and one-way traffic rule holds during working hours.

Early in September the work will be completed.

and C. R. Davis, who serves as attorney for the board.

A meeting of the board will be held on June 30 at the home for reorganization.

The meeting then took the form of a farewell for Misses Nicklin and Magruder, who will leave the city September 1; Miss Nicklin to take up her work as superintendent of the Ruth M. Smith home at Sheffield and Miss Magruder work in Missouri.

Mrs. R. A. Steen and the members of the Queen Esther auxiliary of the First Methodist church acted as hostesses for the afternoon and served lovely refreshments from an attractive table centered with flowers of early summer in pastel shades, with pink candles in silver holders used at the ends. Miss Mary Alice White and Mrs. R. C. Miller presided at the table.

Out of town guests were Mrs. W. P. Bennett of Warren, Mrs. L. S. Hemenway of Mercer and Mrs. J. E. Russell of Oil City, conference officers.

DRUM CORPS TO MEET MONDAY EVE

Siggelew Hears
From Germany

Friend Writes Letter Telling Of Conditions — Denies
Many Reports

In recent months there have been many stories published concerning Germany and conditions there, especially with regard to the lack of kindly treatment accorded those opposed to the present German national government, especially the Jewish people.

Herman Siggelew of 100 River-view avenue has received a letter written by a friend residing in Germany, Gustav Kolbach, who puts a stamp of disapproval on the stories. The letter was written in German and has been translated by Mr. Siggelew. The friend writing the letter is a resident of Berlin.

The letter follows:
My Dear Friend: After the big defense battle of the National government in Germany against the cruel lies in foreign lands and the effort to inflame others against Germany, I feel it to be my obligation to make for once a complete report of what is really going on in Germany.

Since the last election in March of this year, when the majority of the people acknowledged the National government, there has been a new breath of life for the whole people. It was the first revolution that transpired without bloodshed. Not a shot was fired and nowhere was there need of militia or police platoons. And why not?

Because the whole nation had knowledge that the Marxian leaders, who had promised freedom, equality, brotherhood, work and bread for all the people, had betrayed them.

The powerword, "All wheels are standing still, if they might arm so will," was put into real effect and the poor workers were driven out of business, out of the mills and out of offices to the relief bureaus. These leaders of the people have only taken care of themselves and forgotten their former labor pals.

And now? New hope has entered the hearts of unemployed, for they have faith in a government that again will make the unemployed a full man, as the Bronzocratic have lost their power and the Jewish Marxists reign has had an end.

Now they are trying to stop the work of the new government with frightful tales of murder, torch burning, etc. And how are the frightful tales produced? They show to newspaper correspondents bloodstained shirts which were supposed to come from a murdered communist and which were produced by a working man who lost an eye in the war, as evidence of an abused Jew and aged, broken down buildings as evidence of devastations. And while the falsified photographs are shown in foreign lands, Germany enjoys the greatest order.

During the boycott not a hair of any Jew was bent. Not one instance of plundering occurred. All action passed off peacefully.

The whole business life, the traffic, all is taking the usual peaceful way. Every citizen helps to rebuild the nation. I believe I have shown you a short picture of today's Germany and would be thankful to you if you would publish this truth everywhere and in your newspapers.

With German regards,
GUSTAV KOLBACH,
Ahornallee 48,
Berlin-Mahlsdorf,
Germany.

MARRIAGE AND
DIVORCE DROPS

Lawrence County Show Increase In Marriages, Against Falling Trend In State

Both marriages and divorces showed a decline in Pennsylvania, but the marriage rate for Lawrence County was much higher, due in a large measure to the great number of Ohio couples coming here to get married as a result of legislation enacted by the Ohio legislature.

Statistics for the state as a whole showed a decline of 5.7 marriages per thousand population in 1932 from 6.2 in 1931. The number of divorces dropped from 75 per thousand and population in 1931 to 60 per thousand in 1932.

In Lawrence County, the number of marriages increased from 925 in 1931 to 1,174 in 1932. There was a great decrease in the number of divorces, however, only 53 being granted in 1932 against 90 in 1931. There were two annulments in the county in 1931 and none in 1932.

Officers Captures Moonshine Liquor

But Negro In Charge Of Cargo
Makes His Escape

Suspicious of a Star Coupe bearing
Ohio license, 779-373, parked in front of 1221 Moravia street shortly after midnight, Officer Budd Fleeger, stood in the shadow of a nearby building until a negro, apparently the owner, came to the car.

The officer stepped out and questioned the negro as to what he was hauling and the answer was "Nothing."

Not satisfied, the officer then looked into the rear of the machine, where he found two five gallon tin containers filled with moonshine liquor. Directing Rhoda Carr, who was nearby to call the police car, he took charge of the negro and car.

The negro, however, broke away and escaped, although the officer gave chase and shot several times into the air in an effort to stop the escaping negro.

The car was placed in a local garage and the liquor taken to police headquarters.
The negro was described by the officers as being about forty years of age and wearing dark trousers, white shirt and cap.

Local Workman Gives Example Of Patronizing Those Who Help You

Loyalty expresses itself in a number of ways. One of the most effective ways is to patronize your own people and Delphoid Crespi, a doubler in the Shenango Works has reduced "Buy American" to the personal equation.

Mr. Crespi lives near the state line so close in fact that his mail is addressed
R. D. No. 2, Lowellville. Recently he decided to cover his barn with galvanized sheet iron.

Galvanized sheets are made in Youngstown,
just eight miles from his home, but Crespi works in New Castle for the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company. He had read the posters of the company which read "Let's be sure that the articles we buy are made from the sheets we make."

It meant something to him. The company he worked for made the galvanized sheets he needed and he drove to the Vandegrift Works, some eighty miles away to get what he needed.
What he needed was 8570 pounds of 24 gauge galvanized sheets and 135 pounds of galvanized ridge roll, nearly four and a half tons of material in all.

The idea of Crespi driving 85 miles to buy from the company he worked for so impressed H. G.
Bodwell, manager of the Vandegrift plant that he wrote D. A. Bennett, vice president of the company, praising him of it. Mr. Bennett, in turn wrote
D. S. Pyle, general manager of the Shenango Works.

Quite naturally Mr. Pyle was pleased over the occurrence. "There is no compulsion that our men buy American Sheet and Tin products," said Mr. Pyle.
"But it certainly is a fine idea. It demonstrates a loyalty that is commendable."

CHARGE DRIVER HIT TWO CARS

Andy Conti Under Arrest On Charge Of Driving
While Intoxicated

Andy Conti, 1211 Huron avenue, arrested last night after he had crashed into two different cars with his automobile and had managed to escape to his home, where he was found under his bed, was this morning ordered by Mayor Charles B. Mayne to be taken before an alderman and charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The charge was made against him before Alderman Green.

According to the police records and the story told in police court this morning, Conti first ran into the machine of David C. Tino, 83 Croton avenue, while it was parked in front of 603 East Long avenue.

The Tino machine was knocked over the curb and into the cement steps in front of 603 East Long avenue, being damaged to some extent.

Conti did not stop but kept on going. His license number was, however, secured at this time.

A little while later Conti drove his machine into the car of William Challis, 14 North Beaver street, which was parked on East Reynolds street, near Williams street, which was damaged to some extent.

Challis and his friends managed to catch Conti and were holding him for police when he broke away and escaped.

The license number was found to be listed in the name of Conti but at an address on South Wayne street. The officers on investigation found that Conti had moved to 1211 Huron avenue and going there, found him hiding under his bed, and arrested him.

Conti was examined at the police station after his arrest and found to be drunk by the examining physician. This morning he was unable to remember much about any of the essential features of the case. When arrested, he admitted to other officers that it was he that had been driving the machine when it hit the other cars.

Will Send Flowers To Shut-Ins Locally

Saturday, June 10 has been designated as National Flower Shut-in Day in the United States and here in New Castle the day will be observed through the co-operation of the civic organizations. A committee is now at work arranging the details of the day's observation and it is planned that every shut-in in the city shall receive flowers that day.

Any person who knows of an invalid, aged person, or others who are bedfast is urged to co-operate in the observation by sending in their names to the National Flower Shut-in Committee, care of the New Castle News. For the convenience of persons so doing, a coupon is carried at the end of this article. The idea of sending flowers to all the shut-ins is a pleasant one and if aided by everyone, will certainly be a success. The committee invites all to co-operate in this day and all coupons or letters sent in will be given to the committee in charge and the committee in turn will arrange to send flowers to the persons named in the coupon or letter.

There is no charge connected with this service. It is just for the purpose of bringing a little cheer to the unfortunates who through sickness or accident are denied the privilege of being in the sunshine and fresh air.

The coupon follows:

Stolen Goods Are Recovered Sunday

Police Authorities Are Working On Some Excellent Clues In Case

Mayor Charles B. Mayne on Sunday at 12:50 p. m. informed central police station that an attaché of the Forest Service Station on South Beaver street had found an old sweater in a cellar on an adjoining property. In the sweater was a carton of cigarettes and three boxes of chewing gum.

The police investigated and found markings on the cigarettes and chewing gum boxes that indicated that they had come from the Lawrence Billiard Room, 125 West Washington street.

Thomas Joyce, the manager, was notified and it was learned that last Thursday some person had evidently hidden and been locked in the place and had then robbed it and the articles taken were some of the loot taken at the time.

The police are working on a number of clues in the case and are hopeful of making an arrest in the case.

New York Is Baseball Mad
As Both Metropolitan
Teams Are Out
In Front

Johnny Allen Wins Fourth
Game Of Season, Allows
Athletics One Hit

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports
Writer

NEW YORK, June 5.—New York was baseball mad today as the Giants and Yankees provided the main fireworks of the pennant races. A total of 100,000 fans in the Metropolitan area cheered their favorites yesterday. A crowd of 65,000, the largest baseball gathering of the year anywhere, saw the Yankees beat the Athletics twice and knock them out of the American League race, and 35,000 fans watched the Giants take the lead in the National league scramble for the first time since April by downing the Dodgers twice while the St. Louis Cardinals were held to an even break in a double-header with Cincinnati.

One-Hit Game
In sharp contrast to the orgy of slugging that prevailed last week, both New York clubs got brilliant pitching. The season's long list of one-hit games was increased when Johnny Allen, sophomore star of the Yankees, turned in a near-perfect performance in the second game against the A's. After Johnson Walker and Coleman singled in the first inning, not a single Mackman reached first, Allen whiffing eleven batters. It was his fourth victory in as many starts this year.

Beat A's Often
The Yankees have won all of their eight games with the A's this year and their pitchers set a record by striking out 46 Mackmen during the four-game series.

Reds Tumble Cards
Paul Derringer and Jim Bottomly, ex-Cardinals, tumbled their former mates out of first place as Cincinnati captured the second game of a twin bill, 6 to 2. Derringer yielded only six hits and Sunny Jim had a perfect day at bat with four blows. St. Louis annexed the first game 4 to 2.

Schumacher Scores
Pittsburgh knocked Burleigh Grimes out of the box and scored seven runs in the ninth to swamp the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 3. Chicago took the second game, 9 to 2, when Pat Malone held the Pirates to five hits, including two homers by Paul Waner. Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs hit his tenth homer in the opener.

Senators Win
Ed Holley of the Phils held Boston to five hits and outpointed Fred Frankhouse, 1 to 0, but the Braves ran way with the second game, 9 to 6.

A hit by Bluege staked Washington to a 4 to 3 decision over the hard-luck Red Sox in 13 innings. After nosing out Detroit, 2 to 1, on Spencer's single in the ninth, Cleveland lost the nightcap, 4 to 3, when Willis Hudlin made a balk.
Chicago's White Sox advanced to fourth place by shelling the St. Louis Browns twice, 13 to 6 and 10 to 2. The Sox laced out 31 hits.

Mr. Khayyam Is Winner Of Race

Head Play Is Nosed Out By Mr.
Khayyam In Race At Chicago

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 5.—It may be that there'll be an allibi, in fact, there may be two allibi, but for some 30,000 horse players who saw Mr. Khayyam win the $25,000 added American Derby Saturday at Washington Park the jury is in on the name of the best 3-year-old horse of the season.

There was an allibi when Broker's Tip beat Head Play, the Kentucky favorite, in the Kentucky Derby, but they paid off on Broker's Tip. Again, they said Head Play was too weary from train riding to win the Wood Memorial (after he had lost) but they paid off, again, on Mr. Khayyam in one of the most important horse races of the season. Of course, there is that little matter of the preakness, may be it isn't so little, but two victories against one is .666 in any man's tabulation.

USE A MORE OPEN
STANCE AS YOU GET
CLOSER TO THE HOLE

Use a more open stance as you get closer to the hole.
ALEX MORRISON says:
A square stance may be all right for your long shots, but as you get nearer to the green you should use a more open one.
I mean a position that finds your heels fairly close together both feet turned outward and your stomach turned around so that it practically faces the hole.
Having your body turned toward the hole in this fashion will enable you to keep your arms much closer to your body and make the shorter swings simply an arm and hand action.

FOREST CAMP IS NOW ORGANIZED

New Castle Youths Chosen As Platoon Leaders; Routine
Commences

By TOMMY CRENNEY Jr.
(Special To The News)
CAMP NO. 126, CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS, TROUT RUN June 5—After several days in this forest camp, New Castle's foresters are now very well organized. Two groups commonly known as platoons have been created from the 300 men in camp—each platoon of 100 directed by a section leader.

There are 10 squad leaders for each group, and it is the duty of the squad leader to see that all work assigned is carried out.
The section leaders assign various parts of the work, such as cleaning out the woods.

Two New Castle boys have been selected as section leader. Lyman Graham and Orville Grossman. The nature of the work consists of clearing trees and underbrush, so that camp units may be erected later.

Lumber is expected to arrive on Monday and then actual camp construction will commence.
The foresters have been given many privileges by Captain Allison and it is hoped that no one will abuse them.

Timber Camp Sidelights
Bald heads are becoming popular here. Johnny Hague has been added to the list.

There are two army men here worthy of mention. Sometimes they are more important than the officers—they're Privates Mariguld and Buggs.

Ferd Reider and Mike are the camp barbers. Over Mike's tent hangs this sign: "Haircuts 10 cents. shaves 5 cents; and all for 15 cents."

Irish Visitor Amazed At Good Roads Of U.S.

Here on the first visit since 1919, Archibald Scott of Dublin, Ireland, is impressed with the amazing advancement of good roads in the United States since then. Mr. Scott arrived in New Castle Sunday morning to visit his cousin Mrs. Eliza McGaughey of East Reynolds street and Mr. and Mrs. David W. Reese.

"I have been amazed at the good roads in the eastern section of the country," said Mr. Scott. "From New York I went down the coast into South Carolina and all the way we found wonderful highways, and the speed with which you get from place to place is truly remarkable."

Mr. Scott is a manufacturer of linen goods in Dublin and with his sister, Miss Sarah Scott is making a rather hurried trip through the Eastern United States on a short holiday.

His comments upon the economic condition here were interesting. "I found much encouragement in the Carolinas," said he, "due to the increase in the price of cotton. Indeed, it seemed almost as though the Carolinians were even more encouraged than the New Yorkers over the trend of things. The ability of Americans to weather economic storms has always interested us and you appear to be getting into calmer waters now after a severe storm for the past three and a half years."

"Part of the trouble was undoubtedly due to the craze for speculation during your boom years. That's a bad thing. You should never hope to return to those days of wild speculation, any more than you should expect to always be in this depression."

"We also have had our troubles in Ireland although our condition has definitely improved since we went off the gold standard. A bit of business pickup and we will be all right and it seems to be coming. Our business has been hurt considerably by the American tariffs in the past three years for America is our largest customer."

With his sister, Mr. Scott leaves tonight for Detroit, then on to Toronto and Montreal where they will sail for home.

Collella, Constance Rainey, Emilio Canale, Elizabeth Orlando, Silvio Crisci, Pierina Pappilli, John McTaggart, Edith Lambiasi, Sam Nocera, Ellen Barrea, Alfred Orlando, Lucy Masone and the honor guest. Dancing, games and music furnished by John Ezzo, Albert Ezzo and Andrew Ezzo. The guest of honor sang some beautiful numbers, much to the appreciation of the listeners. Refreshments were served later in the evening. Young Orlando received a number of presents in memory of the occasion.

Children Present Talented Program

Splendid Children's Day Exercises Sunday Evening At Christian Church

A splendid Children's Day program was that presented Sunday evening at the Madison Avenue Christian church. The program was well balanced with songs, recitations and novel exercises—each number presented unusually well.

Most of the program was in the hands of the very young members of the church. They displayed rare talent.

Children's Day exercises will be presented at the local Methodist and Presbyterian churches next Sunday, June 11, in the morning at the Methodist church and evening at the Presbyterian.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

About this time of year when you have made the last payment on your winter coat, and taxes are not yet pressing the old family sock into what looks like a model for a Mexican tortillo, the thought of vacations flutters across the mind. The idea is probably born out of the grip of pamphlets, circulars, letters and literature from vacation resorts that the mailman leaves in your box.

From seashore and mountain and faraway dells they come describing the beauty and comfort of Promissory Acres or the charm and exclusiveness of Pocket Plattner Beach. All of them highly lithographed with a sea of adjectives and a lot of pictures showing handsome young maidens disporting themselves in bathing suits that are somewhat circumscribed as to length.

A new one came in today, a 100 page volume from Kent, England, titled "Kent Tells the World," and after looking it over there's only one thing that stops us from hailing the first boat crossing the big ditch and dropping in at Maidstone and Canterbury and Ramsgate. Kent, according to the volume at hand, is the modern version of the Garden of Eden with all the conveniences of the 20th century.

All my life I've heard of Dover and Folkestones and here they are pictured for me and customers those pictures are most intriguing. Naturally there are advertisements in the book but the one that seems to me to be highly appropriate as to name is that of Bugge's Insecticide Limited, located at Sittingbourne.

An interesting work and mighty attractive. Some day we'd like to drop in on Kent as well as Sussex and Surrey, and dear old London. In the meantime we're doing our vacationing week-ends on the Slippery Rock creek.

Rather coincidentally, a gentleman from the British Isles was a visitor in town last night, Archibald Scott, who manufactures those fine Irish linens the file has told you about. From his description of northern Ireland, where he lives, perhaps Kent isn't the finest place on the map of the British Isles.

He has been here before and the one spot he likes to visit is Niagara Falls. Describing them he said about everything there is to say when he said that to his mind they are "the most savage things in all Nature." Next time you go up to the Falls and stand at the foot of them, or watch that maelstrom called Whirlpool Rapids, see if you don't agree with him.

There are a lot of joys living out along the highways if you believe the lads who have moved out. Fresh air in gobs, sunshine in the original package and an absence of street roars that break up a night's sleep. It has always occurred to us, however, that even life out in the country had its disadvantages but nobody would ever admit it.

Now we know there are some. And the lucky number in this recital can prove it. It concerns a family that moved out to the township, but had to have their water pumped by one of these electrical pumps.

The water supply failed and an emergency call went out for a repairman. He looked over the machinery and decided the well was dry. Another man came out, the big shot as a matter of fact, and he concluded that the well was dry. Which made it unanimous.

The first mechanic was of a curious turn of mind and he decided to go further into the mystery of why the well should go dry in wet weather and he began loosening valves. And there was the answer. In one of the valves was a mouse, not a big mouse, just an ordinary sized one, but large enough to stop the intake of water. The mouse was dead—or have you guessed it already?
